Kyle Dickey, Junior Full Stack Developer

I am a self-taught developer with a strong foundation in programming languages such as JavaScript, Python, and Go-Lang. I specialize in creating sophisticated web and mobile applications, embedded systems, and chat-bots. My technical skills are complemented by my dedication to customer satisfaction and my ability to work independently or as part of a team. I consistently deliver high-quality solutions and have a proven track record of success in exceeding expectations.

Notable Projects

Hansumfella Merch Website

April 2023 — May 2023

A merch website for a Twitch streamer I like watching. I was commissioned to make the website by the streamer, it was a fun and very successful project.

Mirky Analytics

October 2022 — Present

A developer-first analytics platform focused on safety and security. This app is more of a proof of concept, however, the main features work and I am proud of it.

Seeds

April 2022 — Present

The easiest bot to use on Discord. Seeds is a multi-purpose bot with a focus on moderation and utility. Currently, it is in over 270 servers and has over 100,000 unique users.
